

The Moraitis School, Athens - Greece

Orff-Schulwerk pedagogy is transforming the school

“every human being hides inside himself an artist” Carl Orff

The Moraitis School is a private school on the outskirts of Athens, covering all levels of Greek education: Kindergarten, Elementary School, High School and IB (International Baccalaureat). For 27 years, the Moraitis School is the accredited institution in Greece that provides certified education in elemental music and dance and stands in collaboration with the Orff-Schulwerk Forum, Salzburg.

The Moraitis School is not a specialized school on music, but at its core is the belief that children learn not only from cognitive subjects of the official Curriculum, but mainly from their experiences in contact with art, painting, poetry, music, dance, theater, as well as from the attitude and interaction with all people that are involved, as a whole.
